

The Intelligencer.

OFFICE: NO. 15 QUINCY STREET.

FREW, HAGANS & HALL.

FRIDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 5.

More Richmonds in the Field.

We notice that West Liberty and Wellsburg appeared in the field yesterday as candidates for the Capital. This pretty nearly completes the swinging round the circle from one end of the State to the other.

The Capital Question.

The Capital question goes forward in all its might and majesty just now, and we presume will be more interesting as the season wears. A new candidate or two appeared in the field yesterday, and we are told that there are several other points not yet mentioned that will put in an appearance in due season. There is said to be a very heavy sort interest in Bulltown that will presently reveal itself. Corner lots are held firmly, especially those fronting on Capitol Square.

The Way Things Have Done.

We alluded yesterday morning to the corrupt schemes that were rife at Washington. An investigation into the affairs of the Patent Office show up badly in the way of public expenditures. For instance, there is a stationary account of over $18,000, for which there was "no provision in law." Books worth nine dollars, were charged at $15. Cash books worth five dollars were charged at $25. And so on throughout the list of expenditures. It is mentioned that these outlays occurred during the time Thacker and Stout were in charge of the office.

Brought Up with a Round Turn.

The action of the Pennsylvania Legislature in regard to the Fort Wayne Railroad appears to be interpreted by the Wall Street people as a flank movement of considerable importance on Erie, and we notice that the stock of the road, which the Erieites were endeavoring to secure, suddenly dropped four percent, yesterday. Pittsburgh, too, in which Erie had a heavy holding, last month, also dropped down from its position. This is the second backset which in a few days that Erie has received. She was badly headed off by the Pennsylvania Central in the matter of the Columbus and Chicago road last week.

Whether the action of the Pennsylvania legislature in regard to Fort Wayne will stand in law remains to be seen. It provides that only one fourth of the present directors shall be liable to be changed at the ensuing election. This looks like a pretty desperate attempt to stave off a raid, and we hardly expect to see it sustained in the courts.

The Last of the Reconstruction Measures.

It looks now as if the adoption of the Constitution passed by the Federal Convention, would be the other day would complete the series of legislative acts that were entailed upon the country as a necessity of the war in order to restore permanent peace and harmony to the Union. When it is ratified by the States we do not see but that the chain of political measures naturally resulting from the overthrow of slavery and the subordination of a rebellious white population, will be logically complete. Such at all events seems to have been the view taken by Mr. Boutwell in his remarks he made in Congress the other day.

This measure, or these two measures, which have been reported together by the Judiciary Committee, are the last, as far as we can foresee, of a series of great measures growing out of the rebellion, and necessary for the reorganization and pacification of the country. It is a large extent, through their representatives and senators in the Thirty-eight, Thirty-ninth and fortieth Congresses, in the hands of the President.

And now the great question begins to loom up as to the future, after the adoption of the amendment. We all know that Gen. Grant refused to bind himself with a declared policy in his letter of acceptance last summer, and in this the good sense of the country sustained him during the canvass. The great masses of the Republican party do not want a policy that shall runneth Grant's hands, and they want him to be free to exercise that sound sense and patriotic instinct that seems to actuate and distinguish him in both peace and war.

Of course there are men in Washington who would like to control the incoming administration, or at least to inspire it with their own animus as regards a proper completion of the reconstruction measures. We dare say there are not a few who would never have an end of measures of this sort, but who would still be ready and willing under any circumstances to postpone a final settlement of our difficulties as long as such a postponement might promise either personal or partisan advantages. Unless the country has greatly mistaken Gen. Grant he does not belong to this class. He is understood to sympathize with the views of those who hold that next to an assurance of our nationality as a people there is a necessity for our material prosperity in the way of more honesty and more economy in the administration of the Government in all its departments, and in the way of infusing new life into the depressed and broken-down agencies of the country for reconstruction.

The Reconstruction in New York.

We clip the following from the columns of the Commercial Advertiser: We can recall no similar period of time so fruitful in daring robberies and burglaries as the past ten days. One might infer that the second raid on the country had made a preconcerted raid on the metropolis. Their audacity and boldness are unparalleled, and there is no one of any one of their number has apparently no effect in deterring the remainder. The operations of the law are ordinarily so slow here that they are ordinarily so slow here that they will soon be an end to this era of crime. In disposing of over one hundred cases of felony within three weeks' time, and in sentencing a great number of the ten years' imprisonment, Judge Bedford has acted in a manner which deserves emulation. Let his vigorous and prompt action be a lesson to the rest of the country. Let his determination to bring to immediate punishment if detected, and receive severe sentence, and his determination to see that the law is obeyed. One garrotter sent to Sing Sing for life put an end to the whole business.

All Sorts of Paragraphs.

New York pays $2,500,000 annually for sale hair.

—Tennessee has a mother aged 11 years and 8 months.

—Rochester youths, to the number of 1,000, annually spend $7,000 on billiards.

—The New York Express thinks the vegetable business is becoming "a nuisance and a bore."

—Thurloe Weed writes from Charleston that he has fresh shad every morning for breakfast.

—A "girl of the period" was recently detected in Davenport, Iowa, "singing" counterfeit money, and put a full stop to the circle.

—Minnesota exported 8,874,121 bush of wheat last year.

—One day's sales of cotton in Havana lately amounted to $400,000.

—Over half a million dollars was paid by Cincinnati last year for running its water works.

—The members of the Rhode Island Legislature are paid one dollar per day.

—The State is small, and nearly all of them live in the State of New York.

—Brownlow says that, like Paul, he has "fought with wild beasts at Ephesus." If I have, he has fought with his better.

—Win. H. Russell, it is said, is to go to Egypt with the Prince of Wales and chronicle the doings of the Pharaohs.

—A New York letter is making a plea for General Grant to wear an inauguration sash. The size of the General's head is 7 1/2.

—Burlington, Iowa, now has the "girl in the trance," who is always going to sleep somewhere about the country and never waking up.

—The Wisconsin Assembly has passed a resolution prohibiting the sale of tobacco in the Assembly Chamber.

—A Southern paper says there is a common action to all children born in New England and New York.

—The New York Nation says that "the reason why the whiskey ring is so powerful among us, is that they have applied brains to the business of stealing and swindling, and good people have responded to them nothing but rhetoric."

—In Zanesville, Ohio, a man who had been married thirty years without heirs died one morning and found a full grown newborn infant in his room, gladdening the heart, &c. The Columbus Journal wants to know whether the man's wife was with him in this trying hour.

—It is told of Billy Hibbard, the Methodist, that once when the roll was called, he noticed his name was not read "William." He rose at once and objected, saying that his name was not William, it was Billy. "But, Brother Hibbard," said the Bishop, "Billy is a little boy's name!" "Yes, Bishop," was the quick reply, "and I was a little boy when my father gave it to me!"

—Unhappily married People.

One of the chief attractions and merits of the New York Ledger is the excellent information and advice which Mr. Bonner often furnishes upon social questions of great moment and interest. We have rarely been so impressed than by some remarks in a recent number upon unhappy marriages, in which the principle is laid down that the husband is generally to blame.

"It is almost incredible," says the Ledger, "from what a variety of circumstances a marriage may be ruined; but it is found, in by far the majority of cases, that the husband is somehow or other the cause of the evil. Domestic felicity is seldom secured by the woman; it is her empire, and she is no more likely to destroy it than the bird of prey is to be destroyed by its prey."

It is a sad thing to see a woman who stands by some principle, and is her nature to seek to render it as agreeable as possible to her husband. She has also a more insidious cause than the decrees of life is more anxious to have all duties properly observed—to have a creditable appearance before her neighbors in short, she has everything right. Men—even sensible, well educated men—are often rebels against many of the proprieties, but women very rarely.

—Fifth Avenue and its Trembles.

Julius Henri Browne, in writing about Fifth Avenue says:

"Whenever a house is for sale or rent in the Avenue, it is a matter of course to a large extent, through their representatives and senators in the Thirty-eight, Thirty-ninth and fortieth Congresses, in the hands of the President."

And now the great question begins to loom up as to the future, after the adoption of the amendment. We all know that Gen. Grant refused to bind himself with a declared policy in his letter of acceptance last summer, and in this the good sense of the country sustained him during the canvass. The great masses of the Republican party do not want a policy that shall runneth Grant's hands, and they want him to be free to exercise that sound sense and patriotic instinct that seems to actuate and distinguish him in both peace and war.

Consumption can be cured.

An Eastern medical periodical gives an interesting account of the complete cure of Mrs. Anna Stanley, of Lancaster, Lancashire, Pa., of her hereditary Consumption. Her parents and several brothers and sisters died of this terrible disease. Mrs. Stanley was herself reduced to a mere skeleton; she could not walk, and her cough was so violent that it was necessary to use opium to keep her from dying. At a conference of the old and skillful physicians who were pronounced upon her case, it was decided that she should die. At this stage of the case, Dr. S. B. Hartman, of Lancaster, Pa., a physician of fourteen years standing, prescribed MISHLER'S BARK BITTERS. The patient soon expectedoration, and was enabled to get about her usual work, and encouraged by her friends to continue under Dr. Hartman's treatment, she did so, gradually improving under increased doses according to the strength, until she entirely recovered. Mrs. Stanley is still living, in the full enjoyment of perfect health. C. B. Hart, Esq., President of the Lancaster County (Pa.) National Bank, substantiates the particulars of this most wonderful case.
